Permits for the construction or modification to a structure, sign, fence etc. require a diagram. Such diagram must indicate the property lines, streets, sidewalks and the placement of any structures or modifications to the property to clearly demonstrate what is being done and where. Arial photographs from applications like google maps are acceptable when applicable property lines are drawn along with setbacks, and locations of structures.

Once approved a building permit will be issued and must be posted at or near the front of the permitted structure and be available for inspection. Once work is completed the permit must be returned to the city hall prior to final inspection. Failure to do so may result in the permit being revoked. A final inspection may be necessary prior to the completion of the project. Questions regarding inspections may be directed to the building inspector.
